The Melrose Police Department takes all citizens' complaints very seriously and investigates these personnel matters with due diligence. The Melrose Police Department will always strive to improve customer service and relationships with citizens and all members of our community.

SPECIALIZED TRAINING:

The Melrose Police attended several specialized training programs during FY2018.

Officers Brown attends continuous supplemental motorcycle training annually with the North Eastern Massachusetts Law Enforcement Council (NEMLEC). Chief Lyle and Officer Alan Brown are both member of this regional enforcement council.

The entire Melrose Police Department attended the state certified Active Shooter Training. This is an ongoing challenge and the education and training remains a priority.
- Domestic Violence
The Melrose Police Domestic Violence Division is led by Detective Daniel Ehlers. Detective Ehlers attended supplemental training throughout the FY2018 period. The Melrose Police has partnered with Respond Inc. to increase Domestic Violence Services in our community.
- Bicycle Patrol Training
Five officers received training for this additional method in community policing and monitoring of our parks; the Melrose Police Bicycle Unit provides more agility and access than a cruiser. In addition, in May 2018 the Police Department received a grant to improve traffic safety on local roads for pedestrians and bicyclists.
- Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) Training
Lieutenant Mark DeCroteau attended 40 hours of CIT training to become a certified team instructor.

COMMUNITY POLICING

In the midst of the complex and escalating safety challenges in every community across the country, the Melrose Police Department is committed to providing exceptional service to its citizens. The department must remain vigilant, trained and equipped to protect every citizen in the city of Melrose. Maintaining strong partnerships with the other communities in Middlesex County is vital to proactively address threats that cross town borders; however Melrose continues to be one of the safest communities in Middlesex County.

The Melrose Police Department website continues to be a valuable source of information as well a key community policing strategy for communicating safety tips and alerts, as well as current messages and news blogs from the Chief. The new Assistant to the Chief will assume responsibility of ensuring that the website is relevant and informative. Online forms, safety guides and home safety tips are available for our tech-savvy community and serve as effective means for the community to reach out to the Melrose Police. In FY2019 we will add the ability to submit certain reports online to the department.

The Melrose Police Department is equally supportive of those in our community that prefer face-to-face engagement. To this end Community Meetings were hosted by the Melrose Police Department and held monthly in FY 2018. Attendance was fair some months and exceptional in others. Melrose citizens are engaged in working with the Melrose Police to better understand many of the critical public safety challenges facing our community, county and country. Education, guidance and support of the following critical issues were discussed during these Community Meetings:

Sessions	Guest Speakers
Senior Fraud/Scams	Eastern Bank Security and Fraud Prevention Department
Opioid Prevention and Strategies	State Police Drug Unit and the DEA Task Force, as well as a member of the Drug Counseling Center
Cyber Safety (cell phone and snapchat)	Representatives from the Massachusetts Chiefs Silver Program
Cognitive Disorders for Seniors	Melrose Police Department
Domestic Violence	Melrose Detective Elhers and representatives from the Melrose Alliance Against Violence (MAAV), along with two representatives from the DA's Office
Substance Abuse	Representatives from the Substance Abuse Coalition
NARCAN (Naxalone) Demonstration	Melrose Police Department

The Police Department enjoys interacting with the Melrose community during the Victorian Fair. The Melrose Police Department booth was busy this past September with visitors that had questions, concerns and in many cases, just wanted to have a bit of fun with our attending officers and express their support.

Two programs in FY2018 that had tremendous success are the R.A.D. Classes and the Junior Police Academies.

R.A.D. (Rape Aggression Defense)

Melrose Detective Elhers runs this popular program; it is designed to teach personal safety skills. It begins with awareness, prevention, risk reduction and avoidance, and progresses to hands-on physical defense techniques. Participants in the general RAD program will learn a wide range of tactics, including verbal techniques, ground defense options, escaping from bear hugs and chokehold and much more. The practical techniques are designed to maximize the strengths of a woman's body and build upon existing instinctive responses to provide women with effective self-defense options.

Junior Police Academy

The Junior Police Academy has become an eagerly anticipated program with our youth and community. Funded entirely through donations and fundraising, the Melrose Police hosted three Junior Police Academies; students attended a one-week course under the direction of Sergeant Charles Byrne with the assistance from Officers James Applegate and Alan Brown. The overwhelming success of this community program would not have been possible if not for the support from the community as well as members of the Melrose Police Department. A total of 135 children attended this year with a special visit from the Massachusetts State Police Mounted Unit.

Quality Policing Through Teamwork

In FY2018 we all were plagued with several damaging storms. The Melrose Police were often responding to catastrophic calls for service simultaneously. Working closely with the DPW and the power companies the Melrose Police were prepared for each one of these environmental disasters that affected so many homes, businesses, public areas and safe travel.

As the department moves forward with Community Policing, Chief Lyle will continue to support the initiatives instituted in the past and look for ways for the police department to better serve the people of Melrose.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES COMPLETED FY2018

This past year, with the great success of the Junior Police Academy, the Department will explore options of this training and funding through the Melrose Recreation Department. The Police Department secured funding through a golf tournament held at Mount Hood golf course. This allows the department to host R.A.D. classes and the Junior Police Academy at no charge to the community.

During this fiscal year, the department funded a replacement for retired Officer K-9 Jony through a grant. The police department secured funds through the generosity of the community and grant funding from Vest-A-Dog foundation.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES FOR FY2019

1. A commitment to supporting our community through advanced training; In FY2018 Lieutenant DeCroteau became a certified team instructor and in FY2019, all officers will attend CIT training at City Hall.
2. Replacing the existing traffic speed trailers is a priority. The existing trailers are 20 years old and the SW is no longer supported. Chief Lyle will utilize the Byrne Fund in FY2019 for this replacement.
3. Additional pedestrian traffic safety lights at the two main cross walks on Main Street will be installed to help to improve pedestrian safety in this busy traffic area.
4. Chief Lyle will explore financial options for new Public Safety Buildings with city officials.
5. Melrose Police K-9 Nero, and handler Patrolman Trainor will attend the Drug Academy where Nero will be trained as a dual purpose K-9 officer.

Respectfully,

Michael L. Lyle
Chief of Police
